"For your wellbeing and to build resilience you need to eat well. This means invested a bit more on high quality food and spending time in cooking a nourishing meal. At the end you will benefit because you will be physically more resilient" Maggie Johnson

"An effective leader builds a bridge that he may never cross" "As a good leader I know I can leave, because the people I have led can continue the work without me"

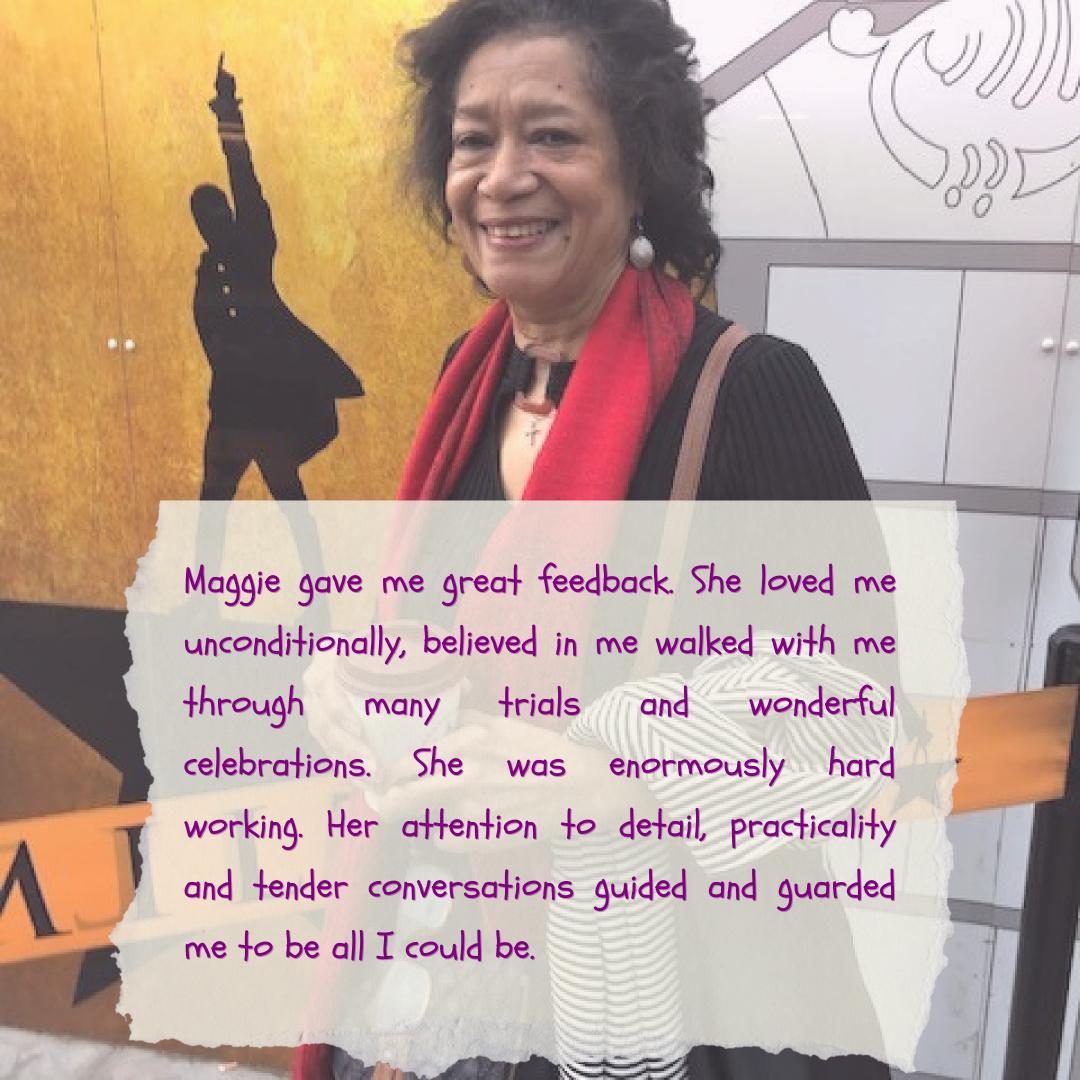

Maggie gave me great feedback. She loved me unconditionally, believed in me walked with me through many trials and wonderful celebrations. She was enormously hard working. Her attention to detail, practicality and tender conversations guided and guarded me to be all I could be.

Tony was my rock - kind, caring, loving, wise, forgiving, inspirational and guiding. He saw possibilities in me even before I saw them in myself. Tony persevered, excelled and stuck with a project to the end. With a glint in his eye he winked me through to great achievements.

Maggie smiled at the world and the world smiled back. She was bigger and brighter than life. She paved the way for others and built bridges that she knew she may never cross

Such joy, such fun. Gone but never forgotten. She will live forever in my heart and in the hearts of those who got to meet her and experience her radiance and kindness
